NOISE NOT MUSIC

I KNOW MY ENGLISH VERY FUKKIN POOR, AND IM NOT A GOOD GUY FOR REVIEWING STUFF, BUT I TRY TO REVIEW AND SPEAK ENGLISH. SO THIS IS LATE REVIEW AND OLD STUFF ALSO, AND ALL THE STUFF IS JAPANESE CRUST STUFF. FOR YOUR INFO, IM FUKKIN LOVE CRUST STUFF THAN ELSE, THEY HAVE MORE ENERGY AND PISS THAN OTHER, FORGET IT DISCHARGE, DISCLOSE IS GOD, THIS IS MY FAVORITE BANDS. IF YOU GUYS LOVE JAPANESE CRUST AND NOISE STUFF, GET IN TOUCH, WE MAKE SOME FAIR TRADE, BUT SORRY I JUST WANT TRADE CD-R, COZ I JUST HAD ONE PIECE FOR EACH STUFF....KONTAKK ME. JARWOITUS

PEOPLE - 2007 - demo CD-R
TOO SLOW FOR ME, THEY PLAY PUNK ROCK AND OTHER ENGLAND PUNK ROCK SOUND, 4TH SONG IN THIS DEMO, BUT STILL NOISE, IT'S OKEY TO HEAR THAT THAN YOU HEAR SKIN'S "SHIT" HEAD SONG!! OR EMO SONG!!

PERSEVERE - PANIC LAND
ANOTHER JAPANESE BAND PLAY FINNISH STYLE, THEY SOUND MAINLY LIKE KAAOS, TREVET KADET, ATTANAS, YPO-VIIS, FAST AND RAW, 9 SONGS IN THIS STUFF, BUT THEY SANG IN ENGLISH. FUKKIN AWESOME.

UNARM - 2006 - NOT NEED SOVEREIGN
WHAT THE FUKK?, WHEN THE 1ST TIME I HEAR THIS BAND, I SAY "THIS IS MUST BE COME FROM JAPAN", FEMALE VOCAL, NOISE SOUND, THEY PLAY CRUSTPUNK SOUND LIKE ABRAHAM CROSS, DOOM, AND ZYINOSE. FUHH....SRAIGHT TO POINT AND NO COMPROMISE, TWO THUMBS US FOR THEY ARE.

LAUKAUS - MIKA ON TOULA
I NEVER STOP LOVING JAPANESE CRUSTY AND CD-BEAT BAND, LAUKAUS IS OTHER MY FAVORITE BAND FROM JAPAN, 4 GUYS PLAYING FINNISH STYLE AND SANG IN FINNISH, IT'S TOTALLY AWESOME YOU NEVER STOP HEARING THIS STUFF, LAUKAUS IT'S AWESOME, SOUND? YOU WHILE KNOW THAN ME, 6 SONG IN THIS EP AND ONE COVER SONG FROM DEATH SENTENCE, EN HALUA ENEMPAA VAPAUTTA MY FAVORITE SONG IN THIS EP.

Frigora - discography 1995-1999
WHO'S NEVER KNOW ABOUT THIS BAND? IF NOT KNOW ABOUT THIS BAND YOU ARE NOT CRUSTY ENOUGH, SO FRIGORA IS ONE OF MORE FAVORITE BAND FROM JAPAN SO SAD THEY BROKE UP, BUT THIS IS LAST DISCORGAPHY, 27 SONGS AND 2 COVER SONG FROM MOB 47 AND STINKER NO COMPROMISE, FAST AND PISSSED, SANG IN SWEDISH LANGUAGE, FUKKIN AWESOME IF YOU WANT THIS STUFF CALL ME, I WILL BURNING IT FOR YOU! 666 THUMBS UP!

BARRICADE - 1995 - Abolition 7"
LIKE BACTERIA, I THINK THIS BAND COME FROM EUROPE BUT IT'S SAME, THEY COME FROM JAPAN, I DON'T KNOW WHERE THE HOMETOWN, BUT VERY NOISE SOUND, I LIKE THIS THAN BACTERIA, IT'S TOO LATE FOR REVIEWING BECAUSE THIS 7" RELEASE AT 1995, BUT WHO'S CARE?, GUITAR, DRUM, VOCAL, AND BASS SOUND IS VERY RAW NOISE, FUKK NICE BAND.

Bacteria - 2002 - demo
For the 1st time I read the name, this band come from Europe I guess, but I was wrong, bacteria from japan, they play like jap core, little "dis" part but fast, sound? very clean nice and friendship with your ear. but they vocal like ray capo, please correct me if I wrong.

Are you tired of namby-pamby environmental groups? Are you tired of overpaid corporate environmentalists who suck up to bureaucrats and industry? Have you become disempowered by the reductionist approach of environmental professionals and scientists? If you answered yes to any of these questions then Earth First! is for you. Earth First! is effective. Our front-line, direct action approach to protecting wilderness gets results. We have succeeded in cases where other environmental groups had given up, and have drawn public attention to the crises facing the natural world. Earth First! was named in 1979 in response to a lethargic, compromising, and increasingly corporate environmental community. Earth First! takes a decidedly different tack towards environmental issues. We believe in using all the tools in the tool box, ranging from grassroots organizing and involvement in the legal process to civil disobedience and monkey wrenching. Earth First! is different from other environmental groups. Here are some things to keep in mind about Earth First! and some suggestions for being an active and effective Earth Firstier: First of all, Earth First! is not an organization but a movement. There are no "members" of Earth First! only Earth Firstiers. It is a belief in biocentrism, that life of the Earth comes first, and a practice of putting our beliefs into action. While there is broad diversity within Earth First! from animal rights vegans to wilderness hunting guides, from monkey wrenchers to careful followers of Gandhi, from whiskey-drinking backwoods ruffraff to thoughtful philosophers, from misanthropes to humanists there is agreement on one thing, the need for action. How to form an EF Group Earth First! is an international movement composed of small, bio-regionally-based groups. Earth Firstiers (EF'ers) take it upon ourselves to become intimately familiar with the ecology of our area and the most immediate and serious threats to it. We apply "direct pressure" to stop the bleeding, with a combination of education, litigation, and creative civil disobedience. Many EF'ers experience both the joy of the wild and the anguish of losing it so acutely that they feel isolated and alone before coming together as a group. Nothing is more empowering or more fulfilling than standing defiant in creative consort with other like-hearted people. Dare to love that much. Earth First! has survived attacks by moderates, would-be leaders and the agents of the system, remaining the most diverse, passionate, committed, and uncompromising group of environmental activists. Our direct actions in defense of the last wild places only seem radical compared to an entire paradigm of denial and control, where the individual is convinced they are powerless, and the organizations set up to protect the wilderness continue to bargain it away. Earth First! is a priority, not an organization. The only "leaders" are those working the most effectively. New ideas, strategies and crucial initiative come from individuals, and all decisions are made within affinity groups based on preferred tactics. EF is as much an extended family as an environmental movement, developing the integrity and skills for a new/old way of living with the land. Our actions are tied to Deep Ecology, the spiritual and visceral recognition of the intrinsic, sacred value of every living thing. To start an Earth First! group in your area, consider the following elements: Contacts: Even though it is up to every individual EF'er to come up with campaigns and strategies and carry them out, a successful group still needs a "contact" to:

- Educate yourself on the ways you can attract attention to environmental concerns and dissuade people and corporations from destroying the Earth.
- Learn the law. While getting arrested will often bring increased media attention, weigh all the options. Freedom is an important asset. Avoiding jail is sometimes a better strategy.

- Become aware of the risks to which you will be exposed. Activists are often arrested during legal actions by police ignorant of the law.
- Establish a web site for your local area so that anyone may get in touch with you and learn what you're doing to help.
- Gather people to help instigate actions and spread the word on what needs to be done to protect the Earth.

BAND REVIEW DISTRESS

DISTRESS was formed in late 2003 by four punks who have previously played in various local bands. Inspired by work of the bands in the second wave of British punk such as DISCHARGE and VARUKERS and mixing it with Scandinavian punk like ANTI-CIMEX, DISARM, AVSKUM, the band has turned towards raw and dirty dispunk as early as their first rehearsals. In early 2004 two demos, "Fuck The System" and "Propaganda," were recorded. Towards the end of 2004 the original drummer left. For a while the band was inactive. In early 2005 six songs for the split CD with punk band KOMATOZ were recorded, with a new drummer. The recording session was followed by yet another lineup change. The guitarist quit but soon his place was taken over by a new musician. During that year the band played a number of gigs around Russia and toured Scandinavia twice. The first full-length album "Progress/Regress" has been recorded in early 2006 and released on CD in 2007 by Totalpunk Records. The sound has remarkably switched towards Swedish d-beat / scandicore on this album. Several songs from the same session were released on a split EP with Finland's DISKELMA. The tour of Czech Republic in the Summer of 2006 was preceded by appearance of a new drummer and followed by the addition of a second guitarist. The band has started 2007 with a new lineup. New guitarist and bassist - both also members of grind band E.V.A. - have joined. In the Summer of 2007 the band went on a European tour (Finland, Sweden, Czech Republic, Germany, Austria and Netherlands). During the tour DISTRESS played at two large open air festivals, Obscene Extreme in Czech Republic and Yellow Dog Fest in Germany. Immediately following the tour five tracks for a split CD with Finland's WHEEL OF DHARMA were recorded. It's not released yet. This recording has shown the turn towards Scandinavian d-beat / crust scene with even more clarity. Fall 2007: After recording the split CD tracks one of the guitar players quit the band. A former member has rejoined for a minitour of Scandinavia (Sweden, Norway and Finland) but due to visa problems all the gigs were cancelled. The consulate refused visas to two of the band members. Following various internal problems the band has stopped its activity. But that's not the end yet. To be continued.

ATTACK

"Postnuclear hardcore" 7"

(We want to apologise and thank all of our friends who helped with gigs for this tour. Thanks to all of you. The fucking visa system is often a big problem for us as well as many other bands. But we shall not surrender, we shall fight and continue).

2008: We are still alive. New recordings, tours and gigs are coming soon. See you around at gigs.

Hello, everybody
I write you from a big, abnormal and alcoholic country Russia. But our crust/d-beat scene is not so big. We had some crust bands in 90-s, and most of them stopped their activity or moved to other country, like Wheel of Dharma (they live in Finland now).

So, the first d-beat band in Russia, are St.Petersburg-based Distress. They started in 2003 and still make us happy with their releases and shows. As you may guess, they play perfect raw music.

from felt tired with every formal thing we have to do just to keep us alive, some of us who usually hangout with other friend stealing happy hours, celebrate our spare time, and do other activity with individual desire, expression oriented together in order to keep away boredom from our everyday life, unintentionally planed to form a band then a common band with common individual skill but has...mmm...a common performance too was formed in a day at august 2005, we've got consensus to name it KRASS KEPALA.

started with KUNX and dinamidefian play disharmonic on guitar, MAN MARGOMAN as bass explorer, TORO bangs an innocent drumset without compassion, AMA and POHON hold microphones and responsible to many ears annoyed by their voice. in our debut we played to opening many gigs by our initiative without permission. D. then ANDRE SS decided to join normal life as bureaucrat, and maman magoman came replacing him on bass explorer.
with this formation KRASS KEPALA performed at many

Kawakami 1971-2007

DISCLOSE

Hideki Kawakami, singer, guitarist, and the only permanent member of Japan's Disclose, died due to an accidental overdose of sleeping pills and alcohol on June 5, 2007. He was 36 years old. Disclose hailed from Kochi, in the countryside on the southern Japanese island of Shikoku, and released almost innumerable records, tapes, CDs, and compilation tracks. The band shared split records with Totalitar, No Fucker, Homomilitia, Cluster Bomb Unit, Scarred for Life, Selfish, Framtid, Scarred for Life, G.A.T.E.S., Besthøven, and others. Labels from at least a dozen countries, including Japan, the United States, Germany, Brazil, and Sweden, released Disclose records. Kawakami also played in a few project bands, such as Armed Revolution, Shadow of Fear, and Apocalyptic Disfucker (who played one ear-shattering gig at New York City's ABC No Rio). In addition to his music, Kawakami was a tattoo artist and opened his own shop, called Bones Tattoo, a few years ago. His tattooing was inspired by a combination of Paul Booth's aesthetic and stark black-and-white crust artwork.

The first Disclose recording that grabbed me was the song "Courage" on Mind Control's "Iron Columns" double LP. I had owned a couple of Disclose records already, but I wasn't crazy about them. At the time, though, I was obsessed with Swedish '80s hardcore (still am, I suppose), and by this recording, Disclose had actually begun to move out of their "Swedish" period, exemplified most by the "Tragedy" LP and the "Great Swedish Feast" 10". But the Göteborg '82/'83 feeling was still palpable on this song. Additionally, Kawakami had begun to employ double-tracked vocals as on the earliest Discharge EPs, which was noticeably unique. Maybe it was that the mastering was not screwy, as it had been on so many of Disclose's records in the mid '90s, or maybe it was just that my taste had evolved, but whatever caused me to pay attention to this short track, I can now say without hesitation, changed my life. I began to buy all the Disclose—and other Japanese crust—records I could find.

A few years later, Kawakami received a copy of my zine, Game of the Arseholes, from a mutual penpal, and based on an article I'd written about d-beat raw punk bands of the '80s, he sent me a letter. I was honored. What he didn't know was that it's possible I wouldn't even have written about a band like MG-15 if I hadn't earlier encountered the band in a list of Disclose's influences and then sought out their music. Most of the letter Kawakami sent was a wantlist of obscure demos and records. Sure, I'd been collecting obscure music and trading tapes around the world already, but this was another level. Suddenly, band names that I'd encountered here and there were contextualized. Now, I knew for sure that I had to hear Plasmid, Warwound, Fader War, Subversion, and Pioneers Disappear (still haven't ever found out anything about them). If Kawakami was asking for a photocopy of an original demo sleeve, it must've been important. And if he sought a record I didn't already have, it soon appeared on my wantlist. I don't remember what I wrote back to him, but I'm sure it was a failed attempt to conceal my excitement that someone whose music I loved so much had written to me asking to trade tapes. Thus began a correspondence that was, I believe, one ideal of what punk can achieve—two people separated by thousands of miles and a difficult language barrier finding commonality in music, teaching each other, sharing a love of sounds and ideas. I dubbed anything and everything from my collection that I thought he might like. The search for tapes and records on his wantlist put me in contact with other punks around the globe, and in the process I learned about so many bands that are now among my absolute favorites.

Perhaps the most accurate way to describe Kawakami is that he was an inspiration. Whereas it is a commonplace to say that punk is a way of life, when he said in that first letter he wrote to me, "D-beat is really great! It's my life!" it meant something more than the usual affirmations of dedication we all make to this crazy thing called punk. Many radical artists have attempted to dismantle the separation between art and life, and yet without pretension or lofty ambitions, Kawakami did just that. It wasn't just tattoos, leather, bristles, studs, and rage, although punk fashion was greatly important to him. And it was not just playing music in the style of Discharge. Rather, it was imagining the realm of the possible in his life and in his music according to a rigorous set of inclusions and exclusions of his own making, and sticking to this vision with verve and tenacity. D-beat raw punk may have been created by his predecessors, but Kawakami was the person who legitimized it and molded it into a gospel, in the sense that i really interesting about the ecological and animal liberation issue, only a few guys in the punk scene who's interesting about both issue, this is our friend was arrested and being prisoner because they still fighting for animal abuse and vivisection. keep the fight and stand with your faith. saludos seignor un seignorita.

it was his conviction, his love, and spreading it, perfecting it, was his self-chosen duty. D-beat raw punk was simply what he did and who he was, and that remained true until his final days. He constantly sought further nuances of the style and then reimagined ways to interpret the boundaries of both the music and his fanatical dedication to it (shirts, tattoos, sculpture, jewelry, etc.). Indeed, the first night we hung out together in Japan in 2002, with his broken English and my nonexistent Japanese, he explained me to me how he had internalized Discharge, that the formula Discharge used both in song structure (antiwar lyrics, d-beat, the arrangement of repeated verse and chorus, etc.) and in style (raw, fast, noisy, uncompromising) was no longer a mode he needed to consciously and intentionally appropriate—it simply was the only mode in which he could create.

And yet what many have failed to appreciate is that within this formula, Kawakami was deeply original and also deeply aware of the success or failure of his music. After "A Mass of Raw Sound Assault," the EP that was the perfection of the sound of Discharge's early periods, it was time for something new. Thus, Disbones. And Disbones, the intermingling of the more metallic sound of Broken Bones with the Discharge/Swedish raw punk sound, remained full of opportunities for innovation. Songs like "N.J.F.J." on the split EP with Framtid, "Nuclear Hell" on the split with G.A.T.E.S., or, indeed, the 10-minute version of "Wardhead" on "Yesterday's Fairytale, Tomorrow's Nightmare" LP would have been unthinkable in the early days of Discharge; yet these songs are quintessentially Kawakami's, with their Discharge influences, ragged vocals, plangent guitar distortion (though of a wholly different style from the early one), and insistent forward motion.

Recently, Kawakami had begun a noise side project called Goatworshiper for his experimentation with occult- and black-metal-influenced noise, music that he would surely have argued derived its extremity from his constant engagement with the extremity of Discharge, Shitlickers, Anti-Cimex, etc. And yet Discharge's most recent records had a sound hugely different from those even five years old, but still within his uncompromising vision of raw, noisy, direct, brutal d-beat raw punk. The use of simple and common techniques like palm-muting opened up entire fields of possibility for experimentation, and each iteration of Discharge's sound explored that sound to the fullest. The re-emergence of songs from previous records done in a new style demonstrated Kawakami's inventiveness.

What was permanent was not the particular moment of Discharge's sound but rather the over-arching attitude, the feeling of urgency. Many will surely feel sadness over his death most tangibly in knowing that we will never find out what was the next step in the evolution of Discharge's sound. But beyond that, with so many releases from labels around the world, and his unquenchable thirst for the minutia of d-beat raw punk, Kawakami had corresponded with hundreds of punks. It is always sad for the punk scene to lose an anchor, but Kawakami's death has deeply affected so many punks exactly because his connection with us was personal and his love of the music was infectious.

Whereas most punk bands influence us with lyrics and articulated ideas about politics and lifestyle, Kawakami's influence on our lives was with the sound of his (noise not) music. By playing such outlandishly harsh music, Discharge opened our ears to all the finer points of raw and unpolished punk. It is certainly no coincidence that the increase in Discharge's popularity worldwide preceded a general shift in taste toward dirty and aggressively raw music. Zine-writer Ben Parker sent a remembrance to me that captures the power of Kawakami's music; he wrote: "Discharge sound like what it must be to love Discharge so much that you hear everything more intensely; Discharge sound like the dream of turning an aesthetics into an entire universe... Discharge are the sound of the importance of Discharge made fresh, and kept in front of us in all its strangeness. In this sense, we would say that the loss of Kawakami is all the more saddening because his art was precisely to keep this love before our eyes."

Not all my memories of Kawakami are serious, or even about music. Joking across a language barrier is difficult, but talking to a friend who was close with Kawakami and could speak Japanese confirmed my suspicion: Kawakami was a funny dude. Even though he told me he always hoped his vocals would sound as angry as possible, he was a kindly joker in person. Perhaps removed even further from their original context these jokes will fall flat, but I want to share two of my favorite lines from Kawakami, two memories I cherish. First, a direct quote from one letter he wrote me, when we were trying to work out a trade for a couple records: "Slowly answer is OK, no problem! I know you are maybe busy. Me too. But I'll never Rip-off (But I always RIP-discharge-off) Hat." Another one: when we were hanging out in Japan, staying up late (insomnia, I now realize, was routine—and devastating—for him), chatting about life, I was trying to get a feel for his marijuana consumption. Judging from a tattoo and the "pot leaf" beaded curtain hanging in his van, he was not just a casual toker. But at the same time, I wondered if in Japan, this sort of thing was more of a fashion choice than an indicator of how one lived. So I asked, "Do you smoke pot sometimes or all the time?" He looked at me, thought about it for a second, and said with an understated smile, "Sometimes AND all the time." Right now, I feel like if anyone asked whether I'll miss him, there could be only one answer: "Hell yes. Sometimes and all the time."

SCUM SYSTEM KILL

Hello, how are you all?

J - Baik baik!

Could you tell how about have SSK and anyone who was play. IUA

ing inside? NE

B - I'm Bekka & I play bass and do some back-up vocals. IN

S - I'm Sophi Jay and I play guitar

and I used to be the vocalist

J - I'm John & I play guitar

K.S. - I'm Kallie and do vocals

KK plays drums & didn't answer the interview by the deadline!! Bummer!!

If I'm not wrong SCUM SYSTEM KILL was taken from a title of the band song crust japanese S.D.S. my correction if that was wrong, so why you chose the name, there was the story was overturned by their name?

B - it's true. We did name the band after SDS 7" but it was such a long time ago I don't remember. Maybe Sophi knows.

S - it's just punk as fuck, that's why we chose it.

K.S. - I wasn't aware of this till now

Could you describe sound, because not everyone knew about your sound in Indonesia, and possibly in another place, what influence you from sound and the lyrics?

B - we're a crust band. um, its hard to explain. i know the others will do it better. there's lots of sweet guitar riffs, excellent d-beats

(and other amazing beats from KK) political vocals and general fun times & lots of laughing. we try to make our lyrics political. its important to us that punk still talks about politics and issues affecting our communities and society.

S - Exactly. We are a DIY crust punkrock band, spreading the word on anti-capitalist radical queerpunk politic

J - yeah metallic crust. Little bit d beat, little bit thrash.

before and have never been to Indonesia and I am so excited to get there. I am so excited to play shows in Asia and get out of the monotony of playing your hometown.
J-I have been to Indonesia twice before and I really love it there and love the people and punk and activist culture. I feel very honoured to be able to come over and play music there and in Malaysia and Singapore also. It is so great to meet people and see how the scene organise and create their diy culture within a different environment.
S-I have not been to S.E. Asia before and have heard good things about the people there especially within the punk scene and I can't wait to meet them and also see local bands too.

And how many fees that you dismissed for your tour? And whether D.I.Y ethic still you applied in your life was everyday, and whether still was relevant to did file sharing, what according to you about file sharing?
B - DIY is a huge part of my life, I think it is the way of thinking that guides how I do things. I'm so proud that I have places in my life where I can put it on to practise & share DIY.

with others, tour is the best example, file sharing? I don't have a computer & don't do so much.
J-I think file sharing is a great way to exist outside of the system for diy bands. But maybe it makes it hard for bands who have put money and time into releasing a record but they cannot sell it to any one because of downloading. But I think that is ok we just have to work out new ways of trading with each other. I download a lot of music but I also let other people download stuff from me too when ever I can. And I try to buy or trade music with friends in my community so the scene can stay alive.
K.S- what bek said. and I agree with file sharing for one its a good way for people to hear your music.

As far as this is concerned what zine still useful for a media in scene the punk/hc, because we knew many of the bands, the organisation or collective that used Myspace, multiply, facebook to spread his information, what your response about this?
B - internet seems to be biggest way to communicate with punks all over the world, I understand it is important but am still critical of it & don't use it personally. I grew up in punk with zines, so for me it is still so important & useful.

J - I think the internet is an amazing tool to communicate our information, especially for connecting people internationally. But I don't like when it is a corporate research tool (like listing top 10 favourite songs and movies etc). Also I think people really need to be careful what things they put on the internet because many times the police have used it to shut down squats and warehouses here. I think it also can make it harder for people to relate to each other in person when they are more

We started in the summer of 2006. We have had two singers. And multiple line up changes. First singer turned black metal. Second singer complained and bitched. We now have a final line up and it is going well. We have a 7" on Damaging Noise Records. Appeared on the Downtown Noise Punker Vol 1. Compilation and also have a Tape on Black Shit Noise Records and a Demo CDR.

We are influenced by Japanese crust and noisecore. we are also influenced heavily by Disorder and Discharge and Confuse. We try to mix our sound between D-Beat and Noisecore. But in the end its just Noise

I only knew several bands from Australia like cutsick, crux, the ABC weapon, useless children, piss-christ, straight jacket nation, and smash n grab and one zine from there that is distort, so you could tell a little what happened about scene you like the band, zine, d.i.y organize, squat, collective, and the places for hanging out.
J - there are many squats, bands and collectives organising in the punk/hc scene and also outside it. In sydney there are lots of warehouse spaces where we can play gigs, perform or rehearse, and also to organise collectives. We are pretty lucky for that at the moment, although there are not very many new bands or zines in Sydney right now.

ONLY LISTEN TO ONE TYPE OF MUSIC.

In a moment you would the tour all through Asia and one of them of Indonesia, so why you the tour all through Asia, what was interesting for you with your the band, what you knew about indonesia?

S - I have traveled through Thailand, Malaysia and Cambodia in capitalism and nationalism so while some attitudes may change slowly through anti-racist actions etc. until there is a major paradigm shift in social and economic organizing in Australia the racism will still be there. That's why we fight for revolution.

J - Yeah Australia has pretty racist history since colonisation, and still racist policies towards the indigenous population and also towards refugees and immigration. I like to think that it is slowly changing, but it is very slow. But there are many people working towards opposing the government policies, and in 2007 our most racist leader John Howard was voted out which maybe a good step. Though I don't really think it has made much difference so far.

Scum System Kill

OK, according to you what most important rumours that must be done by us and that really is relevant to now?

J - I think the things we need to work towards are very different for everyone in different places. For me working on spaces that operate outside the mainstream capitalist society is very important.

What around you were that vegan? What according to you about animal liberation must continue to in the movement inside scene the punk/hc?

J - I have been vegan for many years and was very influenced by the punk/hc scene in making that decision but for me it is a personal thing and I don't feel the need to tell everyone about it. I think it is great when people within the punk scene make those choices to help animals or to stop eating them but I also recognise that it is a privilege to do that and I don't think it is possible for everyone to live like that in this world. KS - well, I have been vegan for about 7 years and I made the dietary choice because I shared the ethical and moral views that veganism offered. Personally I believe that we should all be doing what we can to help stop vivisection everywhere in the world and being aware of what companies test on animals. animal liberation is an important part of any community.

How about the life there that all of them very expensive (for Third World people like Indonesia), and how your method survived, because we knew the punk had his way of surviving and they refused to take part in the contribution in capitalist economics. S - I guess with the band, we try and do as much as possible ourselves, and use the skills and resources in our friends an radical communities around us. Its unavoidable to participate in capitalist systems somewhat, our instruments and amps, petrol for tour, getting records pressed etc. We try and play in autonomous spaces as much as possible and avoid bars and clubs. J - I try not to take part in capitalist economics whenever

Me (Joel) and Johan started to talk about how boring it is with all this new neocrust bands (that gothenburg is over crowded with and how much we love the late 80s early 90s rawpunk/crust/d-beat sound at a mayday party

2006. We decided that we should do something about it and since I had a band shortly before with Josef (the song hippie lover actually was made in this band) we asked him if he wanted to do the vocals. Johan knew Magnus so we asked him if he wanted to do the guitar they both agreed and some months after we started to rehearse I hadn't played drums regularly for 7 years and Johan had never played bass before Magnus had never played rawpunk/d-beat so our ambitions were very low.

We play downtuned anarchopolitical d-beat rawpunk with growling vocals. Our main influences are the d-beat songs of WARSORE, DOOM, DISCLOSE, SVART PARAD.

NO SECURITY and similar bands.

(Taken from wikipedia) Wheat gluten, also called seitan (pronounced /ˈseɪtən/), wheat meat, gluten meat, or simply gluten, is a food made from the gluten of wheat. It is made by washing wheat flour dough with water until all the starch dissolves.

leaving insoluble gluten as an elastic mass which is then cooked before being eaten. Wheat gluten, although not as well known, is an alternative to soy bean-based meat substitutes such as tofu.

SEITAN is of course a name joke with SATAN that is pronounced the same in Swedish and English, when we decided our bandname we choosed between DISWAR or SEITAN.

Joel plays the drums, Johan plays the bass, Josef used to sing and Magnus plays the guitar. Nowadays Per sings and Richard plays the guitar too.

We've recorded 20 songs in dec with the old line up this songs will be put out as a LP that is going to be called "KROSSA V L DSPATRIARKATET" (DESTROY THE VIOLENCE OF PATRIARCHY) as soon as we have finished the mixing of them. Then we are going to try to record again soon with the new line up, we are also talking about a name change since we not really sound the same with the new members. SEITAN Via Joel. Sabeli was formed in August 2008. First it was just a pseudonym for our ex-band Akupunktio, but then we started to write new songs and it got a life of it's own. Back then the line-up was Joonas guitar/b.voc, Samppa guitar, Urho bass/b.voc., Seve drums/voc. After one gig we decided that we need a singer. Anna (Lä hemp änä Loppua, Unkind) joined in September or October 2008. Samppa and Joonas left the band in November 2008. Urho switched to guitar and Mika from Vastaus and HCM-city took the bass. Then Joonas came back to band in March 2009.

Our influences come mainly from punk/crust/hardcore, but also from black metal/NWOBHM - scenes. We all listen a lot of different styles of music so we cannot be described only as a crustcore or a hardcore band.

As writing this we are heading a 4 gig mini-tour with our friends from Aokigahara and Night Offer. A split 7" with Aokigahara is in the works. June 2009 we are going to do a small European Tour. We are willing to do as much tours and stuff as possible, so don't hesitate to take contact.

STATE OF LURGANCH

Linz: We started the band around two years ago when I first moved to Ipswich. I already knew Ed, and he was friends with some hippy called John (haha) who also wanted to make a local band. We had a few practices in John's dad's living room, which John had spent a summer soundproofing with soundproofing material he had obtained from a friend who worked at a factory. His friend had deliberately cut these sheets of soundproofing wrong so the factory had to throw them out, and John would pick them up and attach them to his dad's living room wall (cheers jim) Errrrr..we played a few gigs in our town, then started doing some gig swaps for shows on the south coast. After a little while we put out a split with Borneo band Bleeaaauuurrghhh and went on tour as support for London band Meinhof, and shortly after did a split tour of Indonesia.

Linz: We've been described as everything from raw political thrash d-beat hardcore punk to 'japcore'. But basically, we're just really noisy and angry and i guess fast. With lots of feedback and distortion. If you want to get a headache, come see us. Influence wise, musically, i like unholy grave, aus rotten, wolfrigade, minor threat, flash Gordon, fuck on the beach, Japcore, aus spotten (check this band out) Framtid...lots of stuff. Ed: Masscontrol, Framtid, contrast attitude, conflict, Wolfrigade, Aus rotten, Behind enemy lines, Meinhof. And Johns into Oi Polloi, sedition, Crucifix, Triple H, Stand, Minor threat etc..

Linz: to be honest, because all of the good names we thought up were taken hahaha, and the name wasn't really important to us, it was the last thing we thought of, right before our first show, we never even really thought about logos or anything either. But it was just a progression of thought like "state of emergency" "oh that's shit actually" "State of...urgency" "thats okay. Alright"

Ed - Guitar and vocals
Linz - Bass
John - Guitar
Michl - second vocals (for touring only) and beer

Linz: We have a tour of Germany and Poland with Meinhof at the start of 2010. Ed and I are coming back to Indonesia, but not as a band. Ed will play guitar with FIRST BLOOD on their tour in July/August. And until then, we'll continue to play shows in the UK. Ed: for releases we have a split tape coming out with the minc on German label kotze tapez and after hopefully a 4 way split on radical docs Indonesia.

ZUDAS KRUST

Sancez666: Actually, I really forget when we start this band but if I'm not mistake, we're starting this band since middle of February 2008. The first time is when Jarwo and Ermy ask me to start a new band and play raw hardcore punk, so this is our first line-up in that time, until Ermy and Jarwo decided to left this band with bring their internal personal reason. Now, Zudas Krust played with one guitars and main vocals, one bass(tard) and one drums.

Agi: zudas krust started in 2008 but i don't know the exact date because when i joined the band had already exist. Esa: i don't know exactly when we started this band. i've been asked by sances to join zudas krust as a bassist in June 2008. sances told me that the band has started since february 2008, but our ex-vocalist, jarwoitus said that zudas krust has been around since 2004. i don't know which one is correct. all i can say is that this is my main band for this moment and this band is progressing a lot since the beginning although i do hate sometimes when we got so rush dealing with a project or new songs so that the music isn't always well-arranged. but we are getting closer, musically and personally, each and every minute.

Sancez666: Everyone have a view and give their own label to this band we don't care. But actually we just want to play Raw Hardcore Punk: Inferno, because this sound is what we like to play. We have much difference to each other if you talk about influence. In my personal life, i like to hear many kinds of music. Now, I like to hear Tolshock, Genocide SS, Uncle Charles, Colored Ricemen, Mucky Pup, Brain Death, Burn Your Bridges, D-Starve, Millencolin, Jimmy Eat World, Goldfinger, Candle Box, Corrine Bailey Rae, Stina Nordenstam, Sade Adu, Lisa Ekhdal, Joss Stone, Rilo Kiley And Missy Higgins. For sure, all Raw Hardcore Thrash Punk was influenced us.

Agi: we have a heavy and raw sound. and we have lots of influences but personally i am impressed by Terrorizer because i love their sound but unfortunately they were just a studio band. they were awesome. Esa: our sound is a little bit noisy and raw with hc/punk attitude. and fast. we have a different musical taste so it really help to shape our musical arrangement. i personally love to listen everything from the 90's (peace punk, hc punk, crust, pop punk, etc) but if you asked for a detail influence, i am listening Krigshot, Diskonto, Detestation, Disrupt, Doom, Crude SS, Misery, Behind Enemy Lines just before i create a song for Zudas Krust. Oh, and above all, the mighty Mob 47

From United Kingdom

Sancez666: I think Zudas Krust is a great name for the band and we love it, the sound is more Aggressive, Faster and Raw.

Agi: shit, if you ask for the band's name, you should ask sances. i joined the band, and it had already named zudas krust.

Esa: i don't know. sances named it. ask him!

D-BEAT TAPES YOU HAVE. ALSO STILL AVAILABLE: OUR LATEST 12" "NIGHTMARE C

Sancez666: Now, Zudas Krust is Agipunx - Vocals and Guitars, Essäk - Vocals and Bass and Sancez666 - Drums. Agi: now i am playing hc/punk and grindcore. Esa: i don't know what you are asking. i played bass, and i play fast raw hc/punk.

Sancez666: We just want to put our full length out on this month and looking for a label to release our split EP with Psychotic Sufferance (A Noisegrind Holocaust from Malaysia). Going to studio and record our five new songs for split EP with Raciklaje from Peru, and one song, called 'Sutra' for a tribute project to Herpes Distress, an old Raw Hardcore Punx from Yugoslavia. Anyway, you should check this song because we will play in Indonesian language. And off course, enjoy our life.

Esa: for zudas krust? making lots of songs, involved in various different projects, and released a discography LP, and then i'm out from this band.

A FUKKIN SHORT QUESTIONS

this is a fukkin short questions for more band what i like, actually i send this shit for more bands, but just a few band replying my questions, so its okey no problemo, this zine must goes on... and for the all band who s answering my questions... thank...

1. When start this band and tell the story of this bands?
2. Describe your sound and what s you influence?
3. Why the name is?
4. Who s and what you play?
5. FUTURE PLANS?

johnny started as a 3 piece with me on bass and vocals, willer killer on lead guitars and played shitlickers and anti cimex covers, evolved our sound into more metal kang influence after losing and gaining many drummers. also rudy joined on rhythm guitar and we started making the new LP

when we started we were more towards the confuse/gasmask sound but evolved into more of a SDS meets driller/killer sound we used to be called death trap but there were so many songs and bands called that so we decided to change to swedish right now the line up is version dodsfalla.

Willer Killer - lead guitars, rudy - rhythm guitars,
johnny - bass vocals,
h murder - drumming

Death Future.

WAR D-TART!

AXXKAXX

The band was started in 2003. First line up was Katri: vocals, Juhis: Vocals and guitar, Jontte: guitar, Vellu: bass and Juuso: drums. With this line up we made our first demo cd-r and first ep. Then Juhis quit the band because lack of interest and the band went to hiatus for a while. Then we got new second guitarist, Jyri, with whom we played few gigs, including first gig abroad, k-town festival in Denmark. Soon after that we realised that Jyri wasn't the right guy for this band so we kicked him out and got Borsu for second guitar/backing vocals. After that we made our second ep and gigged alot in Finland and have made two tours abroad. Now we have our first LP coming and another tour to europe coming this year.

3 FINAL

We play fast crust/hardcore with female vocals. Influences are all kind of hardcore punk/crust and metal. RAKKAUS WH... Rakkaus means Love and we chose the name because we wanted to have a different kind of name than crust bands usually have.

Rakkaus is now At Gu Katri: vocals, Borsu: guitar/backing vocals, Jontte guitar, Vellu bass and Juuso: drums.

We have our new LP, "jokainen päivä on taistelua" coming really soon as a co-releas labels from finland, czech and spain. And we are going to tour in august to sweden, denmark, holland, belgium, germany, czech, Austria. Thanx alot for your interest you can find our new lp from distros when it's ready, easiest place to search it is Tuska ja ahdistus, the finnisch label who is one of the labels releasing it: www.elisanet.fi/tuskajaahdistus-vellu/rakkaus

THE EVENTUAL RESULT.

Well nothing so special it was formed like many bands are formed usually 4 friends that want to do noise not music!!! influenced by a lot of bands we loved in the past etc. practicing a lot making some gigs, some rehearsal tapes, etc... all was good with the line rom 1990 to 1994. then the others guys left the band for many reason in the first time, all the others have their own bands. then lots of things to do, like family, school, jobs etc. i keep the band alone then. some times i tried new line ups and invites some friends to play here or there or record some instrument but in the biggest part of time the band is just me doing all alone. i consider this like a "one man BAND" and not a "project", since projects are short lifes, temporaries and i'm with this work more than 18 years. i was with a "suppot" line up since 2005. i call this "s.o.s. line up" for make some gigs, then we played tons of gigs. with FORÇA MACABRA, KUOLEMA, LOBOTOMIA, RATTUS and tons of local bands and Gyn-City bands too but today i don't want more to play gigs since i don't enjoy to play here in my area. here...s not a "crust" scene here don't exist peoples that enjoy d-beat then i'm not more with this "s.o.s. line up" the last gig was in december 2008 to celebrate the 18 years birthday of the band and do images for my upcoming official video. i want just to keep composing and recording new songs.

in first moment i have to say=DISCLOSE AND ANTI-CIMEX!!!! but tons more of swedish classic bands, some from uk, some japanese bands too. i can say= DISARM(SWEDEN)/BOMBANFALL/CRUDITY/DISCARD/DISCHANGE/DISHONEST/ WARCOLLAPSE/BATTLE OF DISARM/CROW/MG 15/ANTI SECT/DISCHARGE/ CRUCIFIX/FEAR OF WAR/CRUDE S.S.(RULES!!)/SHITLICKERS and "old" works by brazilian like=ARMAGEDOM/LOBOTOMIA/SKARNIO & OLHO SECO etc...etc...etc... and TONS MORE!!! The sound...i call DIS-BEAT CRUST HORRORCORE.... TOTAL DISCIMEX!! etc...

yea!! this was an idea of our first and original drummer Repolho is "beethoven" and "beast" or "evil" since we was totally into this thing of "anti-music", "noise not music" back in the past is like a sarcastic name to the "great" name of classic music we create this to be the "horror of CHAOTIC music"!!! hahaha then we all enjoyed a lot the name and is many original too and saying in "portuguese" have a strong name of anti-music too!!! in the firsts moment some body hear this is "choked" when i get alone i decided to keep the name!!!

the band today is just me like i said i consider my work like "ONE MAN BAND" band and "not" a project since projects are temporary or short live time and i'm working more than 18 years with the band and is an amazing experience to drink a lot and composing the songs to drink a lot and record the songs to drink a lot and hear the songs ready!!!! hahaha fucking nice!!!!!!!

drink more and more enjoy my little family=my wife and my son and record more and more brazilian scandinavian brutal d-beat noise!!!! thanx a lot for the friendship and interesting...and for the space in the zine dude!! thanx too to all that read this and respect different thoughts FUCKING D-BEAT CONTINUES ALIVE!!! BRUTAL CRUST NOISE!!!!!! Fofão Discrust.

BARRIKKADE

Barrikkade started around 3 to 4 years ago when Gabe and Andy decided they wanted to start a d-beat influenced band. The name came from the song Barrikaadi by Finnish Hardcore band Kaaos (HIP Jakke). We began writing songs shortly after finding a drummer. The only problem was that our drummers could never give us the sound we wanted because they did not listen to d-beat. Andy then decided to start playing drums for the band, leaving the guitar aside for a while. We got our friend Yogi to start playing guitar for us and his cousin Matt would be the vocalist. After many practices together Andy decided to leave the band due to musical differences with his bandmates. Once Andy left, Gabe decided that he would take over drums. Now in desperate need of a bassist to get things going again, Matt contacted his friend Alex and asked him if he would join. Alex agreed to joining the band and from that point forward is when Barrikkade really got down to business.

We wrote several songs, practiced for several hours every weekend and produced the heaviest raw and intense D-beat we possibly could. We booked a few shows in the Inland Empire area, which had really good turn outs. Soon after that, we began practicing some more, hoping to release a demo, but we were unable to succeed. Musical differences had always been a problem in our band, and that was why Alex would leave the band this time. Shortly after Alex quit we decided to start a 3 piece D-beat band and try to manage without a bass in the meantime. Our sound slowly drifted into the Crust influenced Punk mixed with D-beat and Grindcore vocals. We loved the new direction we were going towards but cooperation amongst ourselves became harder and harder during each band practice. Lack of money for studio time was another big issue, so we decided to stop playing in a band together. Barrikkade ended around mid-2007.

Our D-beat sound was really influenced by bands such as Discharge, Disrupt, Skitsystem, Wolfbrigade, Kaaos, Effigy, and Tampere SS. Anarcho bands such as Crass, Flux of Pink Indians, and Antischism really influenced us when it came to writing lyrics. Our sound can be thought as RAW EARSPLITTING D-BEAT. Our guitarist would use the Hyper Fuzz pedal from BOSS (the same one Kawakami from Discharge used) in order to obtain our raw sound.

The name Barrikkade was chosen to signify the walls put up by armies of soldiers around cities when they would be bombarded and sieged. It was also chosen because we love Kaaos (Finland) and they are also a huge influence on our sound.

We've had several line-up changes but our most successful line-up would have to be the last one before we became a 3 piece band and slowly perished.
Matt - Vocals, Yogi - Guitar, Alex - Bass, Gabe - Drums

As of today, we are no longer playing together but many of us have started other bands... Here are the links to them.
<http://www.myspace.com/andweburn1> - heavy crust-influenced d-beat band from Orange County, California.
<http://www.myspace.com/deadnoiseipunk> - raw punk band from Los Angeles, California.
We would like to thank you for giving us this opportunity to be in your zine. If you ever want to know more you can reach us over myspace, www.myspace.com/barrikkade or e-mail us at gabrielcevallos@live.com

NUCLEAR WEAPONS

the band started at the end of 2004 as a SOCIAL SECURITY that time and play 80s raw punk mixed streetpunk with a musical influences such as Moderat Likvidation, Disorder and The Unseen. but sad to say the band didn't last too long cause of line-up problems and left only three of us. Early 2006 we formed the new band and started create/practising new songs but now we are more into jap-noise since we love the noise a lot and there's not much of these kind here in the scene. end of 2008 Mario Pet join the band and take on the drums. we've already released some shows and our first tape already released under Blackkonflik Records.

It's Noisepunk if you ask me haha. our main influences was Confuse/Disorder/Gai/Discharge/Atrocious Madness but we also loves Discharge, G.I.S.M, Shitlickers, Giftgasattack, State Children, Framtid, Anti-Cimex and the list goes on and on

GUITAR IN THE TIME TAIN. AT THE TIME WE PLAYING PUNK/CRUST WITH A POLA PLAINING AND CRYING WE GO TOGETHER HAVE TOURED MELBOURNE AND HAVE TOURED WAS WITH WORLD BY FAR. WE HAVE UNRELEASED TRACK FROM ONE LINE IN LYRICS OF OUR ANYWAY IT'S ABOUT HATE WAR NO WAR, FUCKIN WAR SEEM TO BE A LITTLE HISTROY OF THE SCENE. SESSION, ARM THE BANDS HOSE PEOPLE STILL AROUND? WHAT BANDS ARE MORE INTERESTED AND MARIO PET: drums, AN FUKKER: Guitar, LIZZY sakevi: voice STRALI: our bassist have left the band somewhere early this year because he moved to somewhere far from our squat. we miss him a lot OVERSEAS THE BANDS ONLY SURVIVE 2 YEARS AT MOST, THER IS ONLY THE SCENE ALTOGETHER. THER IS ONLY THE PRIME IS ENOHOUS AND THE WAIT THAT KNOWS CHEAP PRESSING FOR VINYL SOME BANDS WORTH LOOKING OUT FOR ARE: CRACK, UNCLEAN, BASTARDOOS, IRON CRACK, DOWN FLAG, REDSTAIN, FLIPPER, SUBLIMIN

We will released 8 track CD this June/July and after that we re working to release 1st LP hopefully just stay in touch KS. ZEALAND PUNKS? MUCH CONTACT WITH NEW ZEALAND LIKE I SAID, SEWER CIDER BROKE UP, BUT O MYSELF STARTED A NEW BAND WITH THE SIED FARZE. THE SOUND IS A LOT OF BANDS ARE
